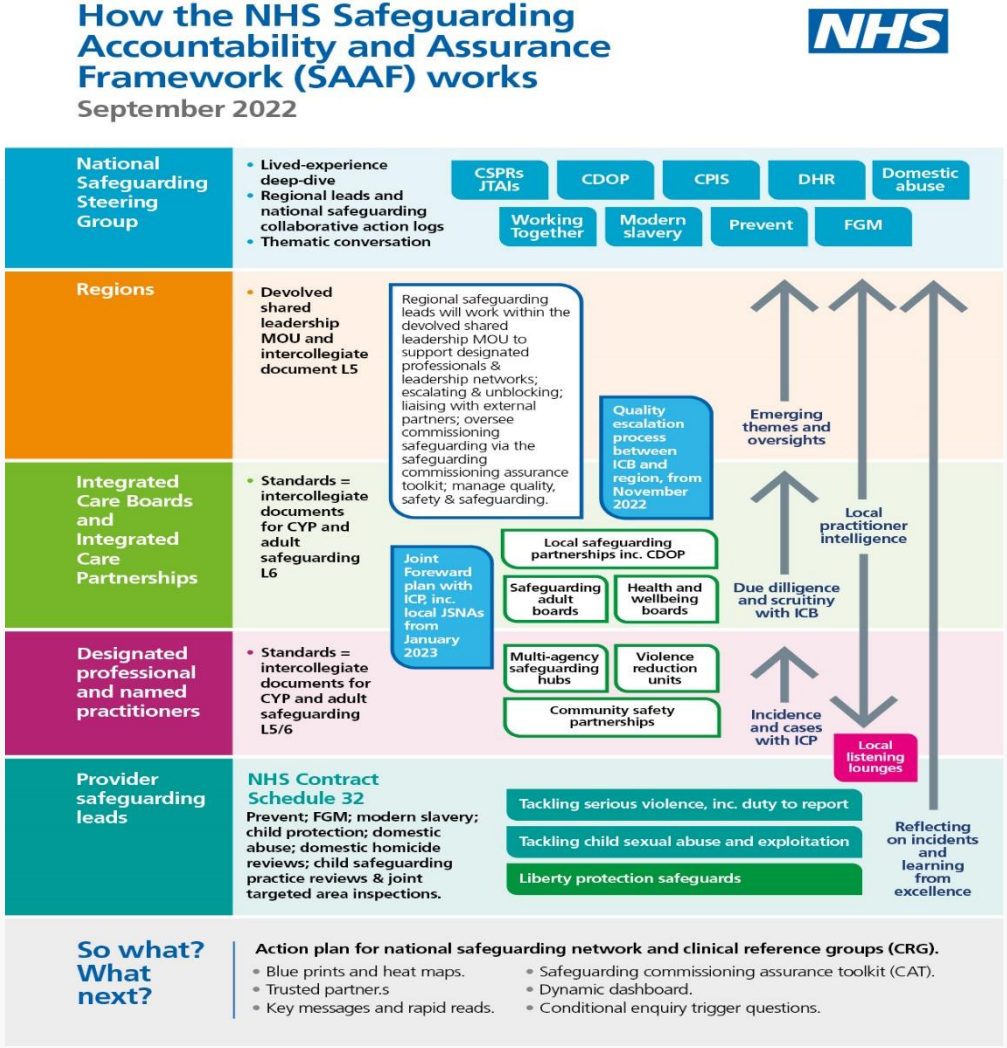
NHS Safeguarding & Data Sharing

Every death & safeguarding review has recommend data sharing. No health staff have ever been found guilt of data sharing breach.

All commissioned care organisations have a Common Law Duty of Confidentiality, if not contractual obligation, to share aggregated population data.

Every practitioner must seek informed consent to share their concerns. If the client declines, the practitioner may still use clinical prerogative and choose to share for reasons of reasonable and lawful public safety or the client's own health and well-being.

The practitioner must record their decision to share after client has decline in the patients record, as per Registration body & GDPR 6 & 9.



What other local networks might you collaborate?

Multi Agency Risk Assessment Committee (MARAC)

The aim of the MARAC procedure is to offer targeted support to high risk victims of domestic abuse identified by the SafeLives DASH risk checklist (www.safelives.org.ukMARAC

Multi-Agency Public Protection Arrangements (MAPPA)

Established by the Criminal Justice Act 2003. The police, probation and prison services – the responsible authority (RA) - must assess and manage the risks to the public posed by sexual and violent offenders. Health, along with other agencies such as Local Authority Housing and Social Services has a 'Duty to Co-operate' (DTC) established by the Criminal Justice Act (2003MAPPA
